RENAISSANCE
AT MATHIESON HOUSE

Where excellence is delivered with compassion

Welcome to Renaissance At Mathieson House, an intimate boutique-style home, offering customised residential care in luxurious surroundings.

Delivering a truly tailored approach to every individual, we are proud to support our residents in living their lives to the full. We believe people thrive when they feel connected – to each other, to their friends and family and to their community – and, at Mathieson House, we're proud to have created somewhere individuals can flourish in this kind, convivial atmosphere.

Mathieson House itself is a stunning C-listed property in the desirable Trinity area of Edinburgh. It is close to the characterful waterfront of Leith and minutes from the stunning Royal Botanic Gardens. With just 20 stylish en-suite rooms, Mathieson House is elegantly appointed and thrives on the intimate and homely feel this creates. It enjoys a host of amenities, sociable spaces and quiet corners including a pretty flower-filled terrace.

Why not visit us at Mathieson House to take a look for yourself. Feel free to drop in whenever suits you, and enjoy the warmest of welcomes.

Personalised period charm

Renaissance At Mathieson House offers a choice of 20 luxurious bedrooms, all restored to the highest standard and designed to offer a boutique-hotel experience.

Every bedroom is unique, varying in character, size and outlook onto the grounds, but each one is beautifully furnished in a smart heritage style. Rooms are all thoughtfully decorated to reflect the period of the property and include glorious original features like cornicing and a traditional fireplace, adding charm and an inviting feel.

We encourage residents to bring their own treasured possessions and pieces with them. In fact we urge friends and family to come in and help 'furnish' the room in advance of their relatives arrival, ensuring we provide them with the warmest of home-comings. And with in-room TV, telephone and WIFI, residents can stay connected whenever and however they choose.

Mathieson House delivers a truly welcoming environment in which to forge new relationships, entertain friends and family or simply to relax in.

“The staff and level of care is superb.”

A RESIDENT OF MATHIESON HOUSE

The highest quality healthcare

The intimate style of Mathieson House creates a warm familial feel between residents and staff.

Our team are highly trained and comprise of some truly remarkable individuals, who are not only compassionate and professional, but who possess extraordinary attention to detail. We take great care ensuring there is a good personality fit between residents and staff and this thoughtful approach creates a genuine rapport based on person-centred care. The bond also adds insight to each resident's personal care plan, whether for long-term supported living or short-term respite care.

We have access to a network of experts and healthcare professionals including GPs, dentists, physiotherapists, occupational therapists etc who are able to deliver exemplary care whenever required. We also enjoy the services of visiting hairdressers, podiatrists and opticians at Mathieson House – and if a resident prefers to simply continue using their existing healthcare experts, they are also free to do so.

Food with friends

A warm welcome is guaranteed in the convivial Mathieson House dining room. The bistro-style room feels like a favourite restaurant and with menu options informed by resident's needs and preferences, it's a really sociable space where friendships flourish and delicious meals are shared.

Our gifted cook has regular meetings and tasting sessions with our residents to help deliver a delicious and nourishing array of meals to suit even the most discerning palate. We are also able to cater for a variety of nutritional needs and dietary demands – whether a resident requires a fortified diet, has allergy concerns or other dietary issues.

We offer a three-course lunch and dinner every day, with the option of something simpler if preferred. Residents are also free to take a room-service style dinner if they feel like enjoying a little me-time instead.

Little details make a big difference

Our lifestyle and Wellbeing Coordinator helps ensure our residents are living full lives, continuing to enjoy the activities they love and maybe even experiencing a few new ones. Our focus is on promoting independence and identifying individual preferences. Our focus is on promoting independence and identifying individual preferences.

From taking a simple nature-walk to playing dominoes with friends; hosting local school picnics; attending Spanish classes; enjoying visiting string quartets; joining a book club; watching Edinburgh festival performances; taking a city rickshaw ride – the residents of Mathieson House have the opportunity to engage in a host of experiences and events, if they choose.

Our talented team takes time to discover what residents enjoy most in life and helps them to continue doing so – there is quite literally something for everyone to enjoy at Mathieson House. And of course, there is plenty of quiet space for curling up with a good book and residents are even welcome to enjoy a tray-service dinner in their room if they just feel like spending an evening to themselves.
